We have said before our faults are those of excess. In doing a thing well we sometimes overdo it. For example in children's tub dresses. We gather them lavishly in order to give you satisfactory choosing. We can never sell out such a large stock completely. Some garments are always left. Therefore in order to make a complete clearance we have made prices most attractively low. The dresses are carefully made of gingham and percale of excellent quality. The models are smart and youthful. Also practically pesigned with a view to laundering. All sizes from 4 to 16 years. The reductions are as follows:

LITTLE HANDS ACROSS THE SEA

An appeal has been issued to the children in the churches of the United States to make the Children's Day collections on June 11 a gift to help save from starvation, disease and warring countries.

The appeal was issued by the Fund for the Starving Children of Europe, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City,, an enterprise started by the Christian Work. It is attempting in this way to interest the children of the United States, as well as their elders, in the fate of those in the lands tormented their hands across the sea in a way that will not be forgotten by their own generation.

This movement emphasizes the action of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America which has already announced that many churches have recently signified their intention of devoting their Children's Day offering to this object, and has urged other churches to take similar action so far as this does not conflict with previous arrangements. The Fund which issues this appeal is unique among war relief organizations in that it is interested in children alone, not only of Europe but also of
